Background

Before CareerVest, international students and recent graduates were taken advantage of by numerous Corp-to-Corp (C2C) hiring consultancies. These consultancies would hire recent graduates with the promise of getting them placed, however, candidates would end up having to pay not only their hiring consultancy but all the extra agencies who had “helped” them secure a job. This hiring system only made 20% of jobs available to its customers because of the exclusivity of Corp-to-Corp hiring and customers ended up paying enormous portions of their salaries out to these companies.

01

CareerVest was created to actually give actionable guidance to those taking the next step into a successful I.T. career. By eliminating the middleman, we open our candidates up to 100% of available jobs. We also make sure our candidates are properly trained for interviews, resume structuring and the job itself.

02

CareerVest was created with you in mind, because we went through the same things ourselves. Our commitment to our candidates is not to treat them like customers, but to treat them like family.

03

At CareerVest, we want to knock down the barriers that stop someone from being the best version of themselves. We provide affordable training and job placement, so you can have the career you deserve, and not be one of those people left behind on a technicality.

About our CEO

Mit Acharya is driven by a deep understanding of the challenges and immense potential of international students. He founded CareerVest to bridge the gap between talent and opportunity in the US tech industry. His own experience as an international student from India fueled a passion for creating a level playing field and empowering others to achieve their American career dreams. Mit Acharya leads CareerVest's unique services for international students. With his expertise in the US tech job market, he offers customized solutions for resumes, job searches, interviews, and IT skills. He has built a team of career coaches, recruiters, and mentors to support student success. Success for Mit is measured by transforming lives, not just company growth.
